“UN Watch is gravely concerned that Canada, a world leader in combating racism, is yet again handing UNRWA millions of taxpayer dollars to fund teachers who endorse Hitler and advocate the murder of Jews,” said Hillel Neuer, executive director of the Geneva-based watchdog group. “Despite a detailed report that I presented at Parliament in April, identifying 60 more UNRWA employees who preach antisemitism and Jihadi terrorism, neither the Trudeau government nor UNRWA has informed us of a single UNRWA teacher who has been fired as a result.”

A stadium full of refugees

Not long ago, Justin Trudeau was the darling of the PC crowd. Today, PM Trudeau has a big mess in his hands and he's struggling quite a bit. He has sought to tone down the warm welcome he promised to migrants, after arrivals at the Canadian border hit 250 a day, leaving immigration officials struggling to cope with the influx. The moral of the story is that liberals love to pander for votes.

Like the rider on a pretty pony who gets a standing ovation at the circus, PM Justin Trudeau of Canada has done a lot of politically correct dancing and prancing in the world arena. When asked if the unprecedented number of border crossers was stoking anti-immigrant sentiments in the country, Trudeau condemned the "intolerant, racist demonstrations" that have been planned in recent days. "The small minority, angry, frustrated group of racists don't get to define who we are as a country, don't get to tell others who we are and don't get to change the nature of the open, accepting values that make us who we are," Trudeau said.

One fallacy – both by conservatives and liberals – lies in the perception of Muslims as a monolith. Meanwhile, much is made of my saying that "Islamophobia" is a term designed to intimidate people into fearing to oppose jihad terror, but this article itself, and the "scrutiny" of Christine Douglass-Williams for writing for Jihad Watch, is an illustration of the truth of what I said. She opposes jihad terror, and so is under fire on suspicions of "Islamophobia." "bigotry" and "racism." Meanwhile, who calls Jihad Watch a "hateful website"? A representative of the National Council of Canadian Muslims, formerly known as CAIR-CAN . That's right, Hamis-linked CAIR. Expect Melanie Joly to jump to do its bidding.

Monday's National Post story that, "A board member with the Canadian Race Relations Foundation, an arm's-length federal government agency with a mandate to combat racial discrimination, is in jeopardy of losing her post over her writings on the controversial website Jihad Watch." And her situation is far from unique. To raise questions about militant Islam, or the extent to which fundamentalism is inherent in Muslim scriptures and doctrines, is to invite accusations of racism. Can we just clarify here that Islam is not a race? It's a religion. So whatever concern about Islam may be, it's not racism

Christine Douglass-Williams: unjustly targeted by Canada's "Islamophobia" agenda

Any efforts currently against me in my private work are an unjust, agenda-driven and a cruel attempt to intimidate me for my distaste for all supremacist agendas. I am pro-Muslim and pro-human rights which is why I wrote my book on The Challenge of Modernizing Islam, featuring prominent Muslims, revelations of their personal faith, and their remarkable efforts toward human rights; among them includes the founder of the Koranist sect in Egypt who suffered, was thrown in jail, tortured and eventually exiled to America. He warns about the same "fanatics" that have arrived in America. I am also an advisor to Muslims Facing Tomorrow, a Canadian progressive human rights Muslim group.

"Any efforts currently against me in my private work are an unjust, agenda-driven and cruel attempt to intimidate me for my distaste for all supremacist agendas," she wrote. She pointed to her recent book, "The Challenges of Modernizing Islam," as proof that she's pro-Muslim and pro-human rights.

"My book differentiates between Islamists and human rights-respecting Muslims who thrive to live peaceably and equally among Westerners," Douglass-Williams wrote.

“Tragically, the idea that censorship is the best tool for dealing with bad ideologies or nasty speech is widespread today. Following far-right marches in the US, the cry has gone out to stymie the speech rights of fascists. This week, Britain’s Crown Prosecution Service unveiled a terrifying plan to treat online verbal abuse as a hate crime. And students will shortly go back to universities at which it has become instinctual to No Platform anyone who has dodgy or just uncommon beliefs. We urgently need to resuscitate freedom of speech – which as its name suggests must be for everyone – and recognise that the right of people to think, say, write and publish whatever they see fit is the only way to keep public life healthy and to sift truth from fallacy.

Censorship is never your friend. It's one of the most destructive forces in public life, first because it merely suppresses rather than confronting bad beliefs, and secondly because it infantilises the public through deciding on our behalf what are the right and wrong ways of thinking. It should never be accepted, in any form. Free speech remains the great cause of our age.”

Free Speech Must Be Defended, Especially When it's Controversial

The entire point of freedom of speech is to defend all of us from politicians who would use their power to control what we are allowed to say. That's why defending it in controversial moments – and defending it for groups we dislike – is essential to protecting all of our rights down the road.

Note that I'm not talking about advocating violence here. Calling for violence, genocide, and attacks on others crosses into advocating crimes, which is different than free speech. That is where the line must be drawn.

PayPal blocks German counterjihad site PI News

In an apparently worldwide concerted action, PayPal is currently systematically blocking the accounts of, above all, Islam-critical blogs and individuals. Within a few days, two of the sharpest Islamic-critical US websites received a letter from the group, and PI is now affected. The PI donation account has been blocked to PI because of its "type of activity." Obviously, Islam takes more control of the world every day. There are more than ambitious helpers here: left-wing ethicists and their own people-hating groups and individuals, such as George Soros. Terrorism is defined as “the use of violence and intimidation in pursuit of political aims”. This definition is the same definition used to declare ISIS and other groups, as terrorist organizations. AntiFa has earned this title due to its violent actions in multiple cities and their influence in the killings of multiple police officers throughout the United States. It is time for the pentagon to be consistent in its actions – and just as they rightfully declared ISIS a terror group, they must declare AntiFa a terror group – on the grounds of principle, integrity, morality, and safety.

The Roots of Left-Wing Violence

There is currently, on the streets, smashing storefronts and setting things on fire, a group called "Antifa," for "anti-fascist." Antifa are not a new phenomenon; they surfaced during the Occupy movement, and during the anti-globalization protests of the late 1990s and early 2000s. Antifa movements began in early-20th-century Europe, when fascism was a concrete and urgent concern, and they remain active on the Continent. Lately, Antifa have emerged as the militant fringe of #TheResistance against Donald Trump — who, they maintain, is a fascist, ushering into power a fascist regime.

An Orwellian War on the Past

One of the great things about public life is that it's a patchwork of the historical events that made our nations. Take a walk through a city and you'll see statues of soldiers, politicians, authors, suffragettes and others who shaped our societies. And most of them will have held views or done things we would consider questionable in 2017. So what? The point is they made history, and it's right for the public sphere to reflect that. The logic of the Year Zero crew is that we should see only historical figures they approve of (if there are any). It's a low, brutal form of censorship, and we should have no truck with it.

The West fails to recognize as an immutable fact that radical Islam is not just a religion; it is also a political totalitarian movement, just like communism and fascism. The movement embraces a fanatical agenda that includes religious supremacy and a Marxist-type utopian/egalitarian standard of virtue. However, unlike communism and fascism, which were adopted by countries that could be defeated militarily, radical Islam is not a country. It is a mass movement sustained by an ideology embodied in unlimited human resources around the globe. We must learn from past experience. Vladimir Lenin, the father of modern terrorism, who was also on the receiving end of it, summarized his experience with Bolshevik brevity: "Terror can be conquered ONLY with

There is something deeply sinister about this Khmer Rougesque desire to erase the past. The alt-left seeks hygiene of the mind. It wants to expel undesirables.
